

USATT National Team System: Statement of Core Beliefs

“Coming together is a beginning. Keeping together is progress. Working together is success.”

Henry Ford

The National Team System will focus on a “52-week approach,” with an emphasis on teamwork, collaboration, coordination, and commitment. By better leveraging our collective system-wide resources, we will provide our athletes, coaches and key stakeholders with the necessary tools to develop and sustain competitive excellence.

Simply put, our staff, coaches, clubs, players and families must work as one with a collective goal of systematic international competitive excellence.

How We Will Achieve This

1. Professionalize the National Team System;
2. Clearly articulate the goals, procedures, priorities and expectations;
3. Create a “team first” culture among athletes, coaches, clubs, and parents;
4. Develop a system-wide approach to elite player and coaching development with a strong emphasis on coordination, integration and interaction;
5. Utilize technology to enable collaboration among key stakeholders;
6. Reduce the importance of team trials events in selecting national teams, particularly among younger players with a stronger emphasis on development;
7. Provide continuity and expand participation by increasing team sizes and qualification opportunities;
8. Hire high quality national coaches to work in a system to work regularly with team members, parents, local/regional coaches, and clubs;
9. Produce programs and camps designed to build team spirit, monitor physical fitness, playing techniques, and mental strength;
10. Provide training tools and programs to supplement local training programs; and
11. Be more efficient and effective with funding by placing a greater emphasis on ability, potential, and commitment to excellence.
